

WHEELSPARK GUIDELINES

The wheelspark should be a fun place to be so please read below rules, if you are new to it

1. If You're Not Skating, Stay Away

It's dangerous to stand in the middle of the action blocking riders' tricks and manoeuvres. If you're a spectator, keep a safe distance.

2. Avoid Marathon Runs

Please keep it simple and respect your fellow skaters, especially during busy times. They're waiting for their turn.

3. Beginners: Plan Your Visit to the Skatepark

Although it is an inclusive structure, the skatepark is an area where intermediate and experienced riders practice complex and advanced tricks. So, if you're new to the sport, avoid learning the basics during peak times.

4. Snaking Is Not Tolerated

If a fellow skater is performing a run or dropping into a pool, don't cut their line. Wait for your turn.

5. Respect Failure

If someone is practising a manoeuvre or trick and fails to complete it, be positive, and encourage them. Skateboarding is all about experimentation and learning from failure - respect other's frustration. Falling is part of the game.

6. Plan Your Lines

Skatepark design often has a logic. There's a natural riding flow between features, so try to perform your runs smoothly without unnatural or drastic course changes.

7. Don't Rest on the deck

Ramps, half-pipes, and bowls are speed zones. Avoid resting or standing on the deck while someone is doing their run.

8. Respect Kids and Beginner Skateboarders

Don't be rude to youngsters, even if they've made something wrong. Talk to them or their parents, if needed. If you yell at a kid, he might leave the sport forever. And beginners are learning - everyone has to start somewhere. Cut them some slack.

9. BMX and Scooters: Respect Skaters

If you're on a BMX or scooter enjoying the concrete lines, remember to respect the rules of the structure.

10. Keep the Skatepark Clean

Have you brought a bottle of water and a snack inside your pockets? Enjoy it. But don't drop your litter on the floor. Keep the skatepark clean and free from flying plastics and rubbish.

This facility should not be used for private coaching lessons during peak times
